Leader In Me:

Put First Things First: The Habit of Personal Management Put Things First is at the heart of effective self-management. It's the ability to organize our time around the most important things.

Think Win-Win: The Habit of Mutual Benefit In all areas of life, effectiveness is largely achieved through the collaborative efforts of two or more people. Win-win is a frame of mind & heart that seeks mutual benefit in all human interactions. It's based on a paradigm that there's plenty for everybody -that one person's success is not achieved at the expense of others.
